Claim No.: 640MC413

We continue to act for the Defendant, Nationwide, in the above matter.

We write further to your email below.

A copy of Nationwide's Defence and the Application was sent to you by email and first class post on 27 May 2025, a copy of the email is attached for reference.

Please see attached Notice of Hearing listing Nationwide's application for strike out and/or summary judgment (the "Application") for a hearing on 1 May 2026 (the "Hearing"). The Hearing is listed to take place at Brighton County Court, in-person. The notice of hearing is dated 21 January 2026 and so would have been sent to you by the court on or around that date.

On 23 April 2026, we sent you a copy of the draft Hearing bundle index by email, no response was received. On 27 April 2026, we sent you a copy of the Hearing bundle by email. We note both emails are included within the chain below, to which you have responded. We assume therefore that you did receive these emails and their attachments.

If you require a hard copy of the Hearing bundle, please respond by return.

Yours sincerely

Subject: Claim No. 640MC413 – Urgent CPR Concerns and Hearing Documents

Dear Sir/Madam,

Parties: Martin Newbold v Nationwide Building Society (“Nationwide”)
Claim No.: 640MC413
NCA: CCG0000122359

I do not believe this matter is being handled in accordance with the Civil Procedure Rules.

I have only been advised of the hearing date two days before it is due to take place. I have also not been provided with a hearing bundle, defence, or supporting documents, other than a request for my own documents.

I previously requested that Eversheds be removed from this case after receiving a signed document from the solicitor which appeared to contain a signature at the bottom before the content had been properly completed.

As the solicitor's filing should have been served within a reasonable time after my own filing, please explain why I have not been notified that this defence has ever been filed or served.

Please confirm urgently:

1. the hearing date and time;
2. whether a defence has been filed;
3. when and how any defence or bundle was served on me;
4. why I have not received the documents relied upon by Nationwide.

Warm regards,
Martin Newbold

Subject: Re: 640MC413 - Mr Martin Newbold v Nationwide Building Society – Defendant's Skeleton Argument and Statement of Costs

Dear Nationwide

As you are aware, I have written to the Money Claims Court to express my concern regarding the claim for approximately £11,000 in costs. and HMRC complaints and NCA CCG0000122359

I do not accept liability for these costs. You are not acting on my behalf; you are acting for, and were engaged by, Nationwide. I am therefore concerned that there appears to be confusion as to why I should be held responsible for charges arising from actions taken on behalf of your client. Whose remit was to strike in our last conversations

Please add this correspondence to my complaint file. I have not written to you since this was logged and therefore you have had no further input.

Warm regards,
Martin Newbold

The Badgers of Bunger Hill (5 book series)

My children's books, available on Amazon, celebrate the importance of friendships and family unity. Through heartwarming stories and endearing characters, these books explore the bonds that strengthen relationships and build strong foundations of trust and support. Children will journey alongside characters who navigate the joys and challenges of friendship, learning valuable lessons about empathy, cooperation, and loyalty along the way. Get it on Audible.

Dear Alan,

Further to my complaint, reference 82726724, I am submitting additional supporting material.

I have also raised a complaint with HMRC. To date, I understand that no defence bundle has been provided to the Money Claims Court, nor has any such material been provided to me.

I dispute liability for any claimed costs. I have been informed that a strike-out notice was served, and I am concerned that the charges and time claimed may not accurately reflect the work undertaken. In particular, documents previously supplied to me appear to be blank, and the skeleton argument appears to have required minimal preparation.

Please ensure this correspondence and the references below are added to my complaint file.
